District Superintendent's Report

Accomplishments which may not make headlines are the many community service projects that students are involved in outside the classroom. For example, Haitian Relief efforts topped many extracurricular school activities this past school year. Even though the year 2010 has proven to be a challenging one financially, Florence One faculty, staff, and students chose to give back to the community by raising over $60,000 for nonprofit agencies, including the American Heart Association's Jump Rope for Heart; the Leukemia and Lymphoma's Pennies for Patients; the United Way of Florence County; the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life; Habitat for Humanity; The School Foundation; and the United Negro College Fund.

This year our teachers, students, and faculty were recognized internationally, nationally, and statewide. Internationally, for example, Vicki Carter, a teacher at West Florence High School, was one of 18 selected to participate in the pre-reading as a Question Team Member, which establishes the grading rubrics for the AP Calculus examination. Our high school media centers were tapped nationally by the United States Department of Education to receive a grant of almost $500,000. Choosing from schools in both South and North Carolina, Progress Energy partnered with South Florence High School through its Sunsense Schools Program to build a solar panel designed to allow students to study alternative forms of energy. Statewide, Wilson High ranked in the top three schools for percentages of International Baccalaureate Tests with scores of 4 or higher.

Schools making adequate yearly progress this year include Carver Elementary, Delmae Elementary, Dewey Carter Elementary, Greenwood Elementary, Lester Elementary, McLaurin Elementary, Moore Intermediate, and Royall Elementary. Schools receiving Palmetto Gold and Silver awards for high levels of academic achievement are (Gold) Carver Elementary, Greenwood Elementary, and Royall Elementary, and (Silver) Delmae Elementary and Moore Intermediate.

The graduating Class of 2010 (students from South Florence, West Florence, and Wilson High School) received over $11.7 million in scholarships and had 44 Palmetto Fellows, 310 Life Scholarship recipients, three National Merit finalists, and 11 South Carolina Board of Education Academic Achievement Honorees. Almost 83% of the graduating class will attend postsecondary institutions of higher learning this fall.

Florence One's Faith Based Mentoring Program has grown from nineteen volunteers to over 200 volunteers who have received training to mentor or tutor a child. Other Faith Based initiatives include the church adopt-a-school program, the elementary school Good News Clubs, and the middle school Child Evangelism Fellowship programs.

Florence School District One continues to have pride in its programs of choice: Montessori Education, the International Baccalaureate Middle Years Program, Advanced Placement opportunities, single-gender education programs, and extracurricular activities which range from swimming to robotics.

Florence One also continues to benefit from The School Foundation, the local organization which receives private donations to improve educational quality in our school district, through a contribution of over $1 million supporting teachers in their efforts to make improvements in their classrooms.
