WORLD CLASS SKILLS & LIFE AND CAREER CHARACTERISTICS

Our school is helping all students develop the world class skills and life and career characteristics of the Profile of the Graduate by ...

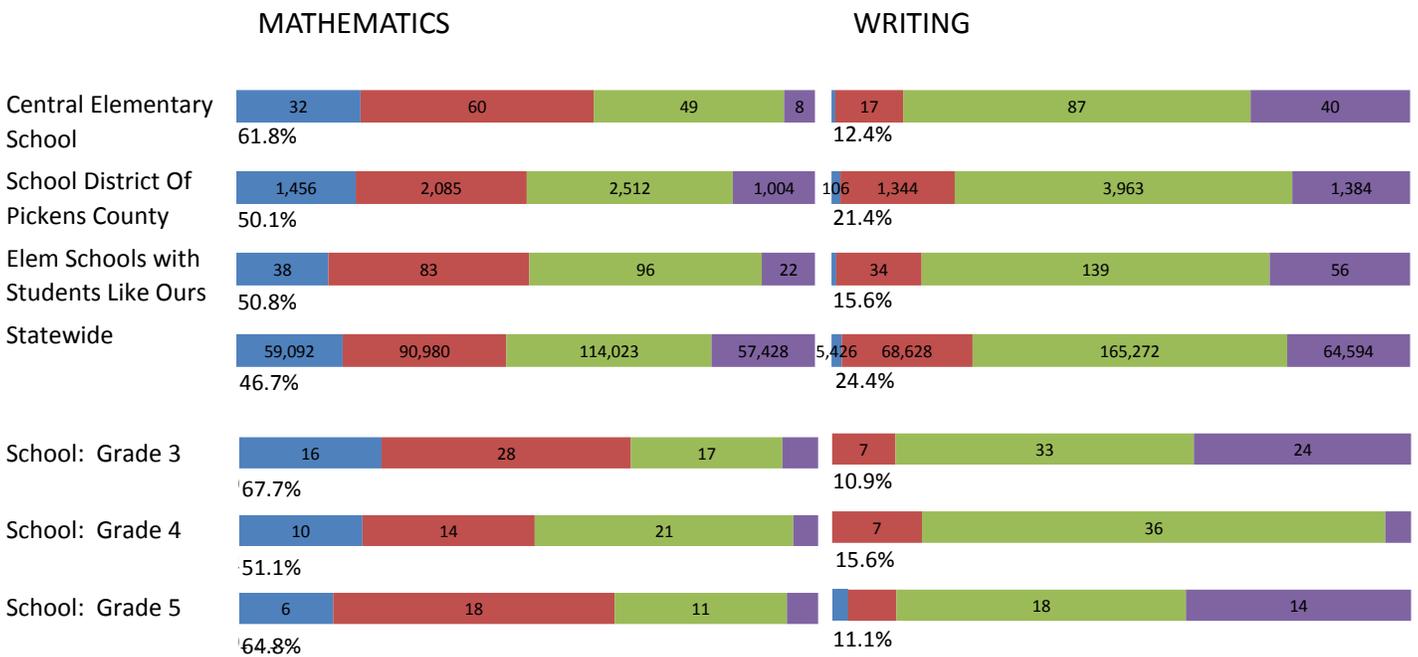

Central Elementary School (CES) has partnered with stakeholders throughout the 2014-2015 school year to build college and career ready students with world class skills and life and career characteristics of the Profile of the South Carolina Graduate. School-wide, the focus has been on creating student-centered teaching and learning to reach our goal of engaging each and every learner. Our mission is to promote individual academic achievement, responsible citizenship, and a desire for lifelong learning for each student while closing the achievement gap.

New initiatives focus on project-based learning. Fourth and fifth graders work with Clemson University's Engineering Department to create and test products to solve real world problems. Professional development has been a top priority to support administration efforts to create a culture of learning for students and staff. Teachers utilize programs such as Envision Math, STEAM, IXL, SumDog, Soft Skill development, and 3D printer applications to enhance learning for students of the Maker Movement. Interventionists provide additional help to assist struggling learners and allow CES to exceed district expectations by providing response to intervention across all grade levels. Various programs focus on the development of the whole child such as: the Positive Behavior Interventions and Support program (PBIS), Student Leadership Breakfasts, and Parent workshops. In addition to these programs, CES also offers a K-3 Montessori class, BARK reading program with therapy dogs for struggling readers, and monthly guidance lessons for all students.

Central Elementary is a Title I school led by an administrative team with a combined 40+ years of teaching and administrative experience. The physical and social environment of CES exudes a "family-focused, student-centered" place of learning. Success comes from relationships built with all students' families through family outreach events, support, and communication. Weekly communication folders, Parent Link phone system, newsletters, positive phone calls, conferences, and personalized student post cards are several examples of the many channels we use to communicate with our families. Parents are encouraged to become involved in their child's education by attending parent nights, joining the PTO, becoming volunteer trained, and by serving on the School Improvement Council. The connection built through these endeavors has allowed CES to become "the neighborhood school" that teaches tomorrow's leaders today.
