REPORT OF PRINCIPAL AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

Calhoun Academy of the Arts continued to celebrate the arts and embrace the integration of arts and academic standards in 2012-13, our eighth year as a magnet school of the arts. With help from our grant of almost $7,000 from the South Carolina Arts Commission, we have funded artists-in-residence, numerous grade-level performances, and a touring professional theater. Calhoun has sponsored many other events in the arts as well, all the while maintaining our high standards of excellence in academics and character.

Artist-in-Residence Patricia Torbert spent a week helping our third graders weave their own baskets and teaching them the historical relevance of basket weaving in South Carolina. Storyteller Tim Lowry taught our fourth graders games and dances from the colonial time period and gave them hands-on experience with toys and instruments on the Colonial Day. Tarradiddle Players of Charlotte awed all our students with their renditions of area and multicultural folklore.

Each grade level presented a program for parents and community that used singing, dancing, and acting to enhance academic standards ("Inventions that Changed the World," "Have to Have a Habitat," etc.), with second and fifth graders giving two big presentations. We also partnered with Anderson Library to host Poetry Alive, a stage/audience workshop for our 3rd-5th graders. Additionally, each grade level presented a standard-based stage dance/art show that featured creative dancing by all our students as their individual artwork was displayed on the backdrop. Our chorus and strings groups gave several performances, with our strings students achieving superior and excellent ratings in the S.C. Solo & Ensemble Festival; our arts classes presented an art show that featured each student's framed artwork.

Once again Calhoun achieved state AYP status and the Palmetto Silver Award for our progress on our school report card. We were awarded the state honor of Exemplary Writing School last spring, and we are proud that every student at every grade level practices journaling in each subject area! Our WRTY daily morning closed-circuit news show is written and presented by our fifth graders and utilizes the latest technology in our media newsroom.

We wish to express our utmost gratitude to our wonderful PTA, who worked hard to raise funds that sponsored a field trip to Brooke Center for every class in the school! They also purchased a T-shirt for every child that featured student artwork at each grade level and sponsored Christmas crafts for each student. Calhoun is proud of community mentors of our student Legacy Mentor Program, and we applaud our Anderson University America Reads tutors, practicum students, and volunteers! Our valued business partners such as Chic-Fil-A, ---, and -- join our parents and staff as we work together to give our children the best possible academic, character, and cultural education.
