REPORT OF PRINCIPAL AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

Joanna-Woodson Elementary School continues to provide a positive and safe environment for all, which promotes high academic standards and expectations for all students. JWES is committed to preparing students to become ethical and productive citizens by achieving excellence, embracing innovation, and forging new traditions.

Academic excellence for all students continues to be our goal. We strive to meet the needs of each individual child. By continuing to be a part of TAP, The System for Teacher and Student Achievement, we have participated in extensive professional development during our cluster meetings each week, followed up by instructional implementation in the classroom.

The education of the STARS at Joanna-Woodson is a community effort. Local businesses assist in donation of supplies and funds to support educational programs. Local churches in the attendance area support grade levels and classrooms with any needs that may arise. Community volunteers come in weekly to assist students in reading, math, self-esteem, and other areas. NORBORD continues to provide assistance for our fall festival and the Christmas literacy project. Target provided a Field Trip Grant for our kindergarten classes to go to Riverbank Zoo in Columbia during the Spring. JWES is truly a fine example of the community coming together for one common purpose: EDUCATION.

JWES participated once again in "FUEL UP TO PLAY 60" this year, a program sponsored by the National Dairy Council and the NFL. This program promotes healthy eating and physical activity school wide. The students continue to participate in planting grade level box gardens, classroom physical activity breaks, and a FUTP60 club. A $3957 grant was provided to assist in the school-wide promotion of eating healthy and drinking more milk. We look forward to continuing this program for years to come. We continued to participate in the Special Olympics Project Unify, a program that shows that we respect everyone. This program continues to be a tremendous success for everyone.

JWES is a small school with a huge heart for others. Together we collected food for our local food bank, and raised funds for Relay for Life. This goes to show that small acts of kindness can make a world of difference.

We are blessed to have such wonderful support all around us and know that there are people out in the world that truly care about our future, our children. We will continue to work together as we strive for Excellence...One STAR At A Time.
