REPORT OF PRINCIPAL AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT COUNCIL

Seven Oaks Elementary School MEDIA Magnet (SOESMM) was awarded a Palmetto Gold Award for academic achievement and Palmetto Silver for closing the achievement gap during the 2013-2014 school year. Our school began the transition into its magnet theme due to the awarding of a federal grant from the Magnet Schools Assistance Program (MSAP). During this transition, Seven Oaks Elementary students were introduced to one-to-one computing with Chromebooks or iPads and engaged in a project-based learning activity to culminate the first year of magnet implementation.

Our students were finalists in the Lego Competition and received second place and two honorable mentions in the District Five Science Fair. Three students were selected to the South Carolina Elementary Honor Choir and five students were selected for the District Elementary Honor Choir. One Seven Oaks Elementary student won the Columbia Marathon Student Division and another had the highest score in the Lake Murray Chess Competition.

Staff representatives for 2013-2014 were Erica Livingston, Teacher of the Year, and Terri Boltin, Support Employee of the Year. Courtney McKenzie received the Seven Oaks Distinguished Reading Teacher of the Year award. Seven Oaks Elementary teachers were awarded several grants including a DonorsChoose.org grant for technology and academic projects, Reflect Grant, Farm to School Grant and PalmettoPride Litter Trashes Everyone Education Grant.

Students donated canned goods for Sharing God's Love, participated in Jump Rope for Heart and collected pajamas for the Connie Maxwell Children's Home. Students were involved in leadership programs through Student Council and SOES Champions, a physical education (PE) leadership program. Seven Oaks Elementary was the first place winner in the Columbia Blowfish Baseball Reading Reward Program.

Seven Oaks Elementary MEDIA Magnet School Improvement Council (SIC) focused their time on working with area churches in supporting our Reading Buddies program. This program involved 48 members of our community reading with selected kindergarten through second graders. Ashland United Methodist Church was very instrumental in supplying volunteers to this program along with the donation of computers and books for students, children's coats, and school supplies. Ashland UMC was named District Five "Organization of the Year" for this service. Our PTA was involved in various programs throughout the year including literacy, talent night, anti-bullying, spring art and choral celebrations. Funds raised by PTA purchased student agendas and portable sound equipment to enhance our media performances.

Seven Oaks Elementary School MEDIA Magnet is "Plugging Students In" and involving our students and staff in interactive learning that will pave the way for future college and career readiness skills. This whole-school magnet theme will engage our children in "real-world" project-based and collaborative learning.
