

Distance Learning

Teaching for Engagement and Impact in Any Setting

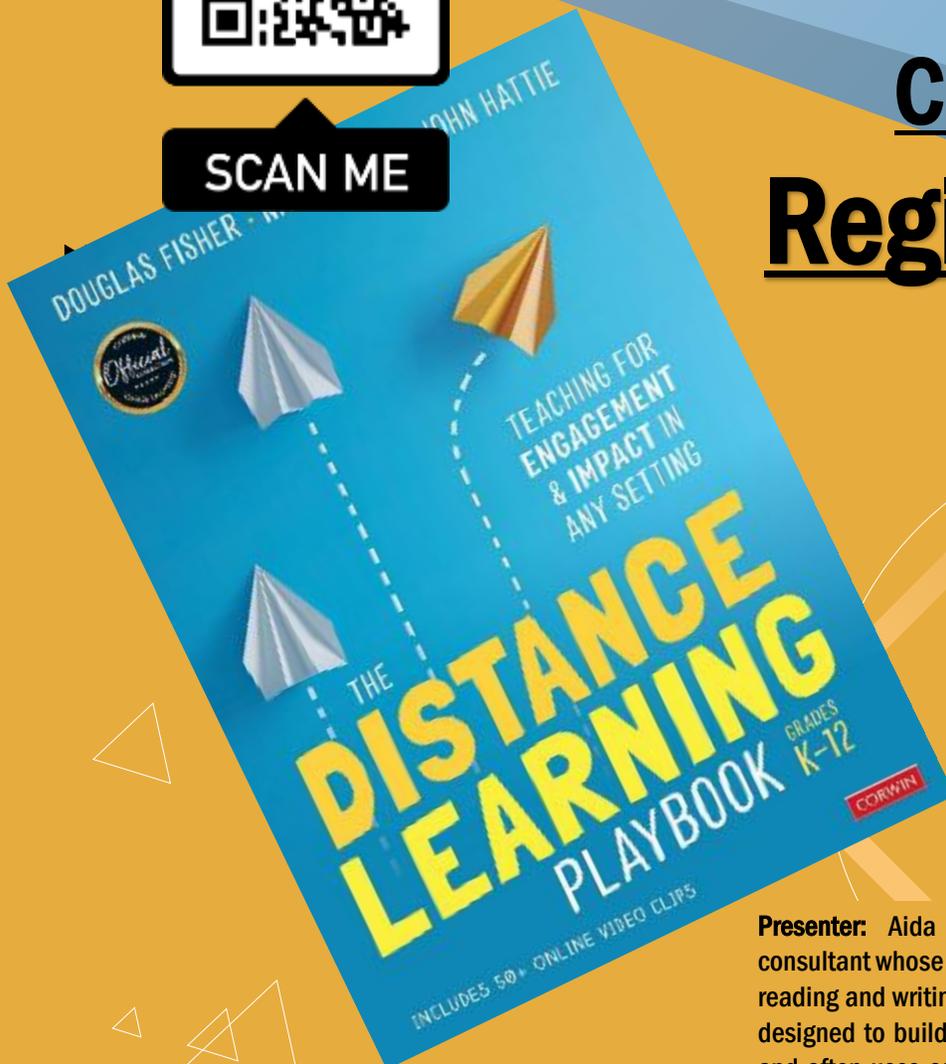

Teaching at a distance doesn't need to be crisis teaching. This 2-day workshop series delves into the evidence on best teaching, assessment, and planning practices for your online classroom utilizing the strategies/modules in the Distance Learning Playbook, Grades K-12.

October 22 & 26, 2020

Time: 9am – 3:30 pm

SCAN ME

Click Here to

Register Today!

Aida Allen-Rotell

Presenter: Aida Allen-Rotell is a nationally recognized consultant whose primary aim is to engage all learners through reading and writing. She worked to create a bilingual program designed to build literacy skills in both Spanish and English, and often uses collaborative learning to build the social and academic language skills of her students. She is also an administrator at Health Science High and a lecturer in the teacher education department at San Diego State University.

