RE: Maxwell Leadership Foundation iLead Student Curriculum Interest Meeting

The South Carolina Department of Education is partnering with the Maxwell Leadership Foundation to provide the iLead Student Curriculum to elementary, middle, and high schools for implementation in Fall 2024. Interested schools or districts, including schools or districts who are renewing their iLead participation, should send at least one representative to a virtual information session to learn more about registration and training:

Interested schools will be provided with an Intake Survey at the Information Session to order iLead student consumable booklets on a first come, first served basis while supplies last.

The iLead curriculum is made up of values-based Transformation Tables designed by Dr. John C. Maxwell to develop students' values and leadership skills. The format allows students to get experience leading as they take turns facilitating the roundtables. Each lesson contains a short teaching on a value or leadership characteristic, asks students to rate how well they practice this characteristic, and asks them to commit to one action step for the week that will allow them to improve their score in this area. Participating schools report that students' confidence as facilitators, relationships with peers, and awareness of values increased.

Please share the information below with interested principals, school counselors, and teachers. Contact Sarah Gams, ssgams@ed.sc.gov, with questions.
