RE: SC Competency-Based Learning Fellows

The South Carolina Department of Education is pleased to announce the Personalized Learning Team will be launching its third cohort of South Carolina Competency-Based Learning Fellows, a free professional learning opportunity for the 2024–25 school year. South Carolina educators (teachers, instructional coaches, and administrators) who are interested in leading their schools or districts toward making the Profile of the South Carolina Graduate actionable are welcome to apply. The fellowship provides an opportunity for education leaders across the state to develop the knowledge and skills to support successful implementation of the Profile of the South Carolina Graduate Competencies in their school and district contexts. The South Carolina Competency-Based Learning Fellows cohort provides educators the chance to earn renewal credit.
