Report of Principal and School Improvement Council

Lexington Elementary School is a wonderful community school with a rich heritage of parental involvement and community support. In 2007–2008, almost 1,000 students and 120 full and part-time teachers and staff members called LES home. Due to the large growth in Lexington County School District One, however, part of our attendance area was rezoned this year. Some students will attend New Providence Elementary for the 2008–2009 school year, and our student population will decrease.

LES met 18 of 19 student performance targets set for our school by the No Child Left Behind Act. A data study showed that a barrier to success in mathematics was not fundamental skills, but rather in applying knowledge at higher levels, such as problem solving. We plan to address those needs. We met our school improvement plan goals and maintained our Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accreditation.

Much new technology was installed this year, and this past summer our school was renovated. SMARTBoard interactive whiteboards were installed in classrooms along with video projectors, document cameras, and sound systems. We have continued to implement Balanced Literacy (read alouds, shared reading, guided reading, and independent reading and writing workshops) in our English/language arts program. Our Character Education program focused on Wildcat Pride and emphasized being kind, courteous, considerate, and helpful in all that we say and do.

In addition to a strong academic program, LES has a rich arts program. Two students were accepted into the Grade 5 and 6 District Honors Orchestra. One student was selected for the SC Elementary Honors Choir, and five students were accepted for the District Honors Choir. Four fifth-grade students were selected for the Tri-District Arts Consortium summer program in the areas of voice, creative writing, theater, visual arts, and wind/percussion, while six were named as alternates. Twenty students had artwork selected for display at the Lexington One Winterfest Art exhibit, two students had artwork published in a National Crayola Crayon book, and 20 students had artwork displayed in Lexington Town Hall for Kids Day of Lexington. Ten students' entries advanced to state competition in the SC PTA Reflections Art Competition.

Students also contributed to the Lexington community through service projects. Fifth-grade band and chorus students performed at Deepwood Estates Retirement Home. Students donated more than 600 packages of diapers to benefit the Lexington One Parenting Center and raised more than $700 of our total $3,077 school donation to the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life.

The greatest challenges that we face in 2008–2009 are addressing the diverse needs of students through differentiated instruction and academic intervention programs and continuing to recognize and support positive student behavior. We look forward to working together to make LES even stronger in the future!
