District Superintendent's Report

Even in difficult and challenging financial times, the 2009-2010 school year proved to be another very productive year for Anderson School District Two. After almost 2 years of work in preparing for AdvancED, a national accreditation, the district was favorably recommended for this accreditation. The visiting Quality Assurance Review Team rated Anderson District Two as highly functional in three areas, including Vision and Purpose, Governance and Leadership, and Documenting/Using Results. Many areas of strength were noted by this committee. These included teamwork and collaboration, community support, excellent resources, qualified staff, use of data, reading programs, volunteer program, and district support of the schools. The team also noted the following instructional practices as those deserving of recognition: professional development linked to school goals, monitoring procedures to ensure quality instruction, meaningful pacing guides/activity manuals, and technology applications.

Anderson School District Two continues to be proud of test scores and academic improvement efforts. Out of all school districts in the state of South Carolina, our district was ranked 6th based on the most recent test scores. The district continues to focus on meeting the needs of all students through the Merit Academy, reading interventions and supports, a student mentoring program, PBIS, and technology learning programs at all levels. New technology supports added for the school year were Waterford Early Learning for primary grades, SuccessMaker for middle levels, and APEX Learning, a digital curriculum for secondary education. These programs are proving to be very beneficial in providing initial and recovery learning opportunities.

After careful analysis of test score data, it was determined that staff-development efforts should be focused on math and writing. Intensive math staff-development mapped to grade-specific and school-specific needs continued throughout the year. Many of our schools focused on initiatives that targeted writing improvements and best practices. Teachers explored the 6+1 Trait Writing Framework as a powerful way to learn and use a common language to refer to characteristics of writing, as well as create a common vision of what good writing looks like. Reading, as in years past, continued to be an area of focus. Xtreme Reading and Content Literacy Continuum (CLC) strategies were extended to the middle school level. Belton-Honea Path High School was recognized as a CLC model demonstration site for the state of South Carolina and welcomed many visitors from across the state to view the program.

State recognitions went to the following schools during the 2009-2010 school year: Belton Elementary School – Red Carpet Award; Belton Middle School and Belton Elementary School – Palmetto Silver Award for academic achievement; Wright Elementary School – Palmetto Gold Award for academic achievement; and Belton Middle School and Honea Path Middle School – “Banner” recognition for their PBIS programs.

I would like to thank you all for another great school year.

Thomas T. Chapman
Superintendent
