District Superintendent's Report

This has been another school year of great student achievement and academic excellence. A Center for American Progress study rated the Kershaw County School District (KCS D) as providing a "high return on investment"—the only school district in the Midlands and one of only 12 in the state to earn the report's highest productivity rating. KCS D averages were higher than the state averages in 23 of the 30 possible 2010 PASS categories. Local seniors' SAT average composite score jumped 17 points to outperform the state composite score. Nine schools—Baron DeKalb Elementary, Bethune Elementary, Blaney Elementary, Camden Elementary, Camden High, Leslie M. Stover Middle, Lugoff-Elgin Middle, North Central Middle and Wateree Elementary—were recognized by the State Board of Education in the Palmetto Gold and Silver program for academic achievement and closing achievement gaps. All schools achieved passing or better ratings on the State Report Card for the first time since the report cards were instituted. All of the district's elementary schools achieved "Adequate Yearly Progress" for the first time. ATEC students exceeded national career and technical education performance standards in 2010. Seven more Kershaw County teachers earned National Board certification (the highest credential available in the teaching profession) while four others earned their recertification. This brings the total number of district teachers who are National Board certified to 151 or 21 percent of the teaching staff, compared to only 15.5 percent statewide who have the certification.

The district's performance has received statewide and national recognition at all levels. Blaney Elementary teacher Tonya Jackson and Lugoff-Elgin High teacher Holly Sullivan were chosen as national finalists for the Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching. Camden Elementary teacher Trudy Ranges was named an Unsung Hero by ING. Pine Tree Hill Elementary instructional assistant Rebecca South was named the SC Paraprofessional of the Year. The school improvement councils of Baron DeKalb Elementary and Doby's Mill Elementary were named to the SC School Improvement Council Honor Roll. Doby's Mill Elementary was named an Exemplary Writing Program Award winner. Wateree Elementary School received a PBIS Exemplar award while Doby's Mill Elementary earned a PBIS Ribbon honor. North Central High was recognized as a "Champion of the Environment" by DHEC. Camden Middle students won seven out of 10 awards given for 7th grade projects at the regional science fair. Blaney Elementary's archery team won the Department of Natural Resources' state competition and advanced to the national finals. Lugoff-Elgin Middle's wrestling team won the state championship. The district's Class of 2011 high school graduates earned $5,293,817 in college scholarships.

In addition, Jackson School became the first "LEED Gold" certified school in South Carolina for its environmentally sustainable design while the first phase of the programs funded by the $5.7 million Safe Schools/Healthy Students federal grant was implemented. This grant utilized existing community agencies and resources to deliver services to students and their families. The grant also led to the United Way of Kershaw County receiving a $300,000 grant to support an intensive mentoring program.
