REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT

Lexington County School District Three schools implemented a Literacy Initiative entitled, "Lexington District Three-Where Universal Literacy Matters" in November 2011. During the school year, each of the schools worked diligently to give students more opportunities to read and to write during the school day. Classroom libraries were also added at all schools and were stocked through donations by students, parents and community residents. A "Reading Buddies" program provided opportunities for middle and high school students to become "buddies" with primary and elementary students by having the younger students read to the older students. Positive relationships were formed through the "Reading Buddies" program, which continued throughout the school year. Students were encouraged to read and write more and at the end of the school year, they were given free books to read during the summer months as part of the 5 Book Challenge Summer Reading Program. A number of community organizations and PTOs provided funding to purchase the books for students. Students successfully completing the required reading and logs will be rewarded for their efforts at the beginning of the new school year. The goal of the Literacy Initiative is to improve reading fluency, reading comprehension and writing skills of all Lexington County School District Three students to the extent that the District's reading and writing scores exceed state averages and national norms within three years. The District will use PASS, MAP, and HSAP test scores to measure the success of students during this three year time period.

Three schools were recipients of the Palmetto Gold and Silver Awards for the 2011-12 school year. Batesburg Leesville Elementary and Middle Schools received Silver Awards for General Performance and Batesburg-Leesville High School received a Silver Award for Closing the Achievement Gap. Batesburg-Leesville Primary and Elementary Schools were also awarded the HealthierUS School Challenge Silver and Bronze Awards respectively for their "leadership roles in implementing a healthier nutritional environment." Lexington Three also had 100 percent of its teachers deemed "Highly Qualified" under the "No Child Left Behind Act."

Throughout the school year, Lexington Three students gave back to their community by participating in numerous fundraising events. From Jump Rope for Heart, to Relay for Life, to St. Jude's Trike-A-Thon, to purchasing bullet-proof vests for local police dogs, Lexington Three students and school personnel, worked tirelessly to raise funds to help local, state and national charitable organizations.

The Lifelong Learning Center had 79 Certified Nursing Assistant graduates and 36 individuals who completed their GED during the 2011-12 school year.
