REPORT OF PRESIDENT

For ninety (91) years the Wil Lou Gray Opportunity School has served the people of South Carolina. From its founding in 1921 by the late Dr. Wil Lou Gray, to the present day, the agency has educated and provided vocational and life skills training to thousands of citizens of our State. Throughout that time the agency has adapted its mission to meet the critical needs of the day.

The Opportunity School continues to offer traditional academic and vocational training, social and life skills improvement, and employability enhancement. Aside from the educational experience, the Opportunity School also offers participants a structured lifestyle with an emphasis on becoming self-reliant through a disciplined, military-style environment. Both the educational and residential components are premised upon leadership, teamwork and self-discipline as taught and modeled within a quasi-military framework. While the delivery method of the Wil Lou Gray Opportunity School has been reshaped, our theme of motivating the “at-risk” student into a productive, employable young adult has remained unchanged since 1921.

One of the performance measures used to evaluate the academic progress of the cadets is the Adult Test of Adult Basic Education (TABE). The performance of our cadets on the TABE has been exemplary, which is reflected in our average growth rate.

As we prepare our cadets to return to their communities as productive citizens, they are exposed to many types of career choices. We have entered into an agreement with the Lexington District Two Adult Education Center, where each cadet is afforded the opportunity take the WorkKeys assessment. This assessment is a tool that employers use to evaluate a variety of employments skills possessed by each cadet. We continue our partnership with Midlands Technical College, where selected cadets are given the opportunity to obtain three college credits, in addition to the GED.

We also participated in Habitat for Humanity, City Roots Sustainable Farm, Animal Mission of the Midlands, Saluda River Clean-up, Cayce Riverwalk Clean-up, and many other activities that have made a positive impact on the community.
