Eagle Nest Elementary School started the 2013-2014 school year with 903 students, a new administrative team, countless strengths, endless opportunities, and a commitment to nurture, encourage, succeed, and touch the future. We set out to accomplish our mission of "providing a nurturing environment that encourages relationships, rigor, and relevance for our learning community to grow and succeed." [2]

The Principal's Morning Message set the tone for the day each morning. Our commitment to be cornerstone scholars, to lead not follow, to create not destroy, to step up and set a new standard, and to make the choice to be better every day, created a culture of possibilities for our school family. The message served as a guiding tenant for our work this year at The Nest. We started the school year as a group of people and ended it as a family working toward a common goal, success for all children. [2]

The establishment of a monthly Advisory Council where Terrific Kids met with the Principal to provide feedback and suggestions for school improvement and "Time with Tamara" where parents were given the opportunity to share their thoughts and ideas set the stage for the alignment of goals and strategies and guided the work of the School Improvement Council. The Council has focused on the areas in need of improvement as identified through parent feedback and the School Report Card from the previous year. Some of the highlights of our year include the Reading Prize Patrol and Read for the Record, math and technology nights, Math Prize Patrol, fine arts performance nights, an award-winning Robotics team, a successful multi-genre coffee house, PTA movie nights, Trunk or Treat, the establishment of a student emporium, implementation of a Positive Behavior Intervention and Support system and expectation assemblies to improve student behavior, and numerous service learning projects. [2]

Our greatest challenge is involving all parents from our very diverse population. Our efforts to encourage parents to be actively involved included increasing the number of bilingual faculty and staff; utilizing a translator and parent liaison for parent communication and meetings; and staff development to build capacity for meeting the needs of the English Language Learner and their families. [2]

Our plans for the 2014-2015 school year include using benchmark and universal screening data to determine and meet the needs of every child, and ongoing staff development focused on professional learning communities, children in poverty, and the English language learner. We will also become a Thinking Maps® school and will work toward making this a universal language for our school, as we utilize these nonlinguistic tools to improve student achievement in all academic areas. We are excited about our success and cannot wait to see what we can accomplish together in the upcoming school year because, "From the mountains to the sea, Eagle Nest is a great place to be." [2]
