2024 Data Manager/District Test Coordinator Training PART A: Teacher Data

Description

The Kindergarten Readiness Assessment (KRA) is a developmentally appropriate instrument that measures a child's school readiness across multiple domains. This one-hour virtual training for new and returning data managers and district test coordinators will prepare you to load teacher data in order to support KRA teacher trainings.

In this virtual training session, we will address the following questions:

- What is the KRA and why is it important?
- What does KRA implementation look like this year?
- How do I load teacher data?
- What are my next steps?
